product description:

Nissan B20 Jasper Black color is a deep, mysterious and noble color that adds a unique charm to the vehicle. This black car paint is characterized by its depth and luster and impresses with its color like a precious black jade stone.

The depth of the B20 Jasper Black color is produced by its unique metallic finish. When light shines on this black paint surface, it will produce a strong reflection effect, giving the body surface a deep luster. This color will produce different effects under different light, thus making your vehicle more varied and attractive.

In addition, the B20 Jasper Black color offers excellent paintability and durability. Nissan has used high-quality paint materials and advanced painting techniques to make this color not only beautiful, but also has excellent resistance to wear and tear. The paint is also excellent in sun protection and corrosion protection, protecting your vehicle's surfaces in extreme weather conditions.

Our advantage:

Dongfeng Nissan B20 Jasper Gray by Meklo is made of high-quality paint materials and advanced manufacturing processes. The paints we use are of exceptional quality and performance, providing excellent gloss and durability. Compared with other manufacturers' products, our paints have higher wear resistance and longer service life.

Meklon's Dongfeng Nissan B20 Jasper Gray has better painting effect and color stability. Our products use the latest painting technology and high-quality toner to ensure color consistency and stability. It can not only provide high-quality painting effect, but also keep the color bright and not fade for a long time.

Meklon's products are also more environmentally friendly. The paints and toners we use are environmentally friendly materials, do not contain harmful substances, and are harmless to the environment and human health.

Finally, our service is also one of the strengths of our products. Both our sales team and technical support team are very professional and experienced, and can provide timely and effective support and service. We also provide customization and color matching services to meet customers' different needs and requirements.
