Product Description

Customer Feedback

1.Customer Feedback - African Market

As the head of a car repair chain store in Johannesburg, South Africa, I have been working in the field of car repair paint for more than ten years. I have been looking for a supplier that can balance cost, quality, and supply stability. After collaborating with Meklon, this problem was finally perfectly resolved.

Meklon's car repair paint has extremely high color reproduction, especially for common Japanese and European models in the African market (such as Toyota Hilux and Volkswagen Polo). Its color matching accuracy far exceeds expectations, greatly reducing color mixing time and waste paint. More importantly, its paint film has extremely strong weather resistance - under strong UV irradiation in Johannesburg (with an average annual UV index of over 6), the painted car paint has no significant fading or yellowing within two years, reducing customer repair rates by more than 30%.

Meklon's service team is equally impressive. Our maintenance peak often requires emergency replenishment, and Meklon not only responds to orders within 48 hours, but also proactively provides technical guidance (such as spray humidity control suggestions for South Africa's humid climate) to help us optimize the construction process. In the past three years, our stores have expanded from 3 to 12, with an annual maintenance volume growth of over 200%. Meklon's stable supply and professional support are indispensable. In the future, we plan to expand the scope of cooperation to neighboring countries (such as Botswana and Namibia), and continue to deepen this mutually beneficial and win-win cooperation!

2.Customer Feedback - Middle East Market

In Dubai, the core market where luxury cars converge globally, customers have almost stringent requirements for the uniqueness and quality of car painting colors. As a practitioner specializing in high-end modification, I have tried dozens of international brands and ultimately chose Meklon - a decision that completely changed our business model.

Meklon's ability to customize color grading is our most valued advantage. Whether it's the luxurious metallic colors favored by Middle Eastern customers (such as "Desert Gold" and "Persian Blue"), or the replica color codes of niche limited edition models, Meklon's technical team can always provide precise matching solutions within 3 working days, with color difference controlled within $\Delta E < 1$ (the industry's top level). What's even more rare is that its paint can still maintain a smooth and crack free surface, resist UV fading, and greatly improve customer satisfaction in Dubai's extreme high temperatures (summer surface temperatures exceeding 60 °C) and sandstorm environment.

In terms of cost, Meklon's pricing strategy is highly competitive - compared to high-end European brands, its price is 15% -20% lower, but the quality is not inferior or even better. We replaced an Italian brand with Meklon's products, resulting in an increase of approximately $800,000 in annual profit per store. Nowadays, our modification workshop has become a benchmark in the Dubai luxury car industry, with an average monthly order volume of over 150 units, of which 60% of customers specify the use of Meklon paint. In the next five years, we plan to open branches in Saudi Arabia and Qatar, and continue to deeply bind with Meklon to jointly explore the high-end market in the Middle East!
